Summary

I'm a passionate and curious developer currently building my skills in the MERN stack (MongoDB, Express.js, React, Node.js). I enjoy solving real-world problems through clean, efficient code and constantly explore new tools, technologies, and best practices in full-stack web development.

I'm working on personal projects combining front-end interactivity with robust backend systems, and I'm eager to grow through collaboration, mentorship, and hands-on experience.

Always open to connecting with other developers, mentors, or tech professionals. Let's build something awesome together!
